ECONOMIC SNAPSHOT: SCOTLAND COUNTY

The Budget and Tax Center's Economic Snapshots provide a look at how well counties in North Carolina are faring across key indicators of economic well-being and opportunity.

Scotland County has a population of 35,462, which is a decrease of 2.3% over the past decade.¹

AVAILABILITY OF JOBS²

- There were 1,008 people looking for work in Scotland County compared to 461 job openings in December 2016.
- The county's unemployment rate was 8.7% in December 2016, compared to 9.8% in December 2015.
- There were 2,257 fewer employed people in the county in December 2016 than there were in December 2007 (when the Great Recession began).

POVERTY AND ECONOMIC HARDSHIP

- 29% of county residents (9,509 people) lived in poverty and struggled to make ends meet in 2015; the state poverty rate was 16.4%.³
- 44.4% of children in the county (3,579 children) lived in poverty in 2015, compared to 23.4% statewide.⁴
- The poverty rate varies by race: 46.4% of African Americans, 38.2% of American Indians, and 48% of Latinos in the county lived in poverty compared to 16.5% of Asian Americans and 15.7% of whites on average from 2011 to 2015.⁵
- 56.9% of the county's residents were low-income on average from 2011 to 2015, meaning their incomes were less than twice the federal poverty level ($48,500 for a family of four in 2015).⁶

ABILITY TO AFFORD THE BASICS

- The county's hourly median wage of $14.48 equaled 91 % of the state median wage of $15.91 in 2016. The county's median hourly wage grew by 89 cents since the recovery began in 2009.⁷
- For a family size of three, it costs $21.21 per hour to make ends meet in the county, where the hourly median wage falls short of what's needed by 68.3%.⁸

- Median household income in the county was $35,447, which equaled 74% of the statewide household income of $47,884 in 2015.⁹
- The richest 5% of the county's households had an average income that was 28 times greater than that of the poorest fifth of households and 5 times greater than that of the middle fifth of households, on average, from 2011 to 2015.¹⁰

ACCESS TO AFFORDABLE HOUSING

- 58% of renters in this county spent 30% or more of their income on rent—meaning their rent was unaffordable—on average from 2011-2015.¹¹
- Rent and utilities for a safe, modest two-bedroom unit at the county's fair market monthly rent was $659 in 2016.¹²
- The two-bedroom housing wage in the county was $12.67 in 2016, which far exceeds the state's minimum wage of $7.25 per hour. This means that a person earning the minimum wage would have to work 70 hours per week to afford a modest two-bedroom unit at fair market rent.¹³

HEALTHY LIVES AND COMMUNITIES

- 16% of the county's residents did not have health insurance, compared to 15.5% of all North Carolinians on average from 2011 to 2015.¹⁴
- The life expectancy rate for an African-American child born in the county is 74.8 years whereas the rate is 76.3 for a white child. The average life expectancy for all children born in this county was 75.8 years on average from 2013 to 2015.¹⁵
- There was 1 mental health provider for every 683 residents in the county in 2016.¹⁶

EDUCATIONAL ATTAINMENT

- The graduation rate for this county was 82.5% compared to the state rate of 85.6% in 2015-16.¹⁷
- The graduation rate for African Americans in this county was 86.6% compared to 80% for Hispanics and 83% for whites in 2015-16.¹⁸
- 15.8% of adults in this county had a Bachelor's degree or higher compared to 28.4% statewide on average from 2011 to 2015.¹⁹
- 17.7% of women in this county had a Bachelor's degree or higher compared to 13.8% of men on average from 2011 to 2015. Of those with this level of educational attainment, the median earnings for women was $32,550 compared to $49,448 for men.²⁰

WORK AND INCOME SUPPORTS TO AVOID POVERTY

- 10,363 of the county's residents received assistance from the food and nutrition services (or food stamps) program in December 2016, with 29.1% of residents receiving assistance.²¹

- 12,365 people in the county were eligible for Medicaid in December 2016, an increase of 23.2% since December 2007 when the recession began. Estimates suggest that 1,964 North Carolinians in the county would benefit from Medicaid expansion, delivering $39.7 million in economic benefits to the county.²²
- In 2013, 4,951 tax filers in the county claimed the state Earned Income Tax Credit, which lawmakers allowed to expire that year. The tax credit went to people that worked but earned low wages, and the benefits totaled $632,360 in the county. These were dollars that helped workers make ends meet by allowing them to keep more of what they earned to support their children.²³
